TAG!

Hi! My name is Elise and I am 13 years old (14 in September). I love all performing arts (primarily singing and dancing) and visual arts, excessive baking, cooking, TV (especially horror movies), board games, video games, spontaneous adventures, healthy discussion/debate on controversial topics/ideas, and cats! I also play the drums and can play the guitar (as long as it is from my small sample space of songs I have learned)! My favorite types of music are: rock, r&b, 90's everything, early 2000 (we love a good Kelly Clarkson and Kesha throw back), metal, and many other artists i.e., Tame Impala, Willow, Lady Gaga, The Beatles, and Mitski! I have been at CAAP for a good amount of time and I am excited to be tagged! I tag Liam Christ!

History Of Boba Tea & Boba Tea Personality Quiz

Milk and sugar have been added to tea in Taiwan since the Dutch colonization of Taiwan in 1624–1662. (copied that from Wikipedia)

1. Tapioca Pearls:
Tapioca pearls are edible spheres made with Tapioca flour and other things like sugar and water. But you can add other things to flavor the boba. An example is brown sugar boba. Instead of granulated sugar you use brown sugar which gives it a caramel taste that is different from normal boba.
2. Tea:
Technically you can have any tea and put boba in. But it doesn't have to be tea. Instead there are milk teas, some flavors like brown sugar are milk and sugar which is not tea. Both milk tea and tea are classified as boba tea. Instead of milk and tea, there are also fruit drinks and slushies.

If you answered the most “A”s, you are a Rainbow Parrot Fish!

The Rainbow Parrot Fish is a beautiful rainbow fish species in the family Scaridae. It's common and lives in coral reefs, mangroves, and seagrass in the western Atlantic. It eats algae, bacterial colonies, sponges, and invertebrates and is responsible for cleaning and restoring coral reefs. It lives up to 16 years and as an adult is the size of a small eight-year-old CAAP-goer. It is obviously the main character and uses its beauty and flattery as its weapon.

If you answered the most

“B”s, you are a Sunflower Sea Star!

The Sunflower Sea Star is a critically endangered species found in the northeast Pacific. It's one of the largest sea stars in the world, with an arm span that is the height of an average-sized four-year-old. They typically have 16-24 arms and eat sea urchins, clams, snails, and other small invertebrates by disturbingly sucking them into their mouths using hundreds of small tentacles. Clearly, it's the main character's best friend that balances out its overly happy disposition with logic, moodiness, and planning, and will sacrifice its life to save its friend.

If you answered the most “C”s, you are a Goblin Shark!

The Goblin Shark is an uncommon species of deep-sea shark and is the only existing member of the 125-million year old Mitsukurinidae family. It is typically the size of three six-year-olds stacked on top of each other in a trenchcoat, but one has been captured that was nearly the size of three Shaqs. It has nail-like teeth, a long, flat snout, and an appetite for fish, squid, octopus, and crustaceans. Its snout can detect electrical fields, which helps it detect its prey. It is the antagonist and will do anything to stop the main character but ultimately gets defeated with the protagonist's best friend's brave sacrifice.

If you answered the most “D”s, you are a Whitemargin Stargazer!

The Whitemargin Stargazer is a strange fish in the Uranoscopidae family. It lives in the Indopacific and is the length of kneehigh socks. It buries itself in the ground to camouflage and uses its tentacles and electrified additional organ to shock its prey with up to 50 volts of energy and sting them with venom before eating them. It is the wise elder that the protagonist and protagonist's best friend find in order to hear the mysterious prophecy that will dictate their fate.
