Chicken Detective Case #1

Mr. Chicken detective: I'm so happy! I finally get a break!

Desperate Cow: Please help me! My calf is gone!!!

Mr. Chicken detective: Where did you last see her?

Desperate Cow: Umm I don't remember.

Mr. Chicken detective: Great just great!

Desperate Cow: Can you please check my farm?

Mr. Chicken detective: But I'm on break sighs.

Desperate Cow: I INSIST!!!!

Mr. Chicken detective: FINE! Calm down.

They get to the farm...

Mr. Chicken detective: Okay we are here.

Desperate Cow: Oh she was sleeping. You didn't really help.

TAG!

Hi! My name is Maya Shavit. I am 17 years old, this is my 10th year at CAAP, and my first year as a CIT! Even before I became a camper, I would come pick up my older siblings from CAAP, so camp has become my home away from home. My hobbies include theater, dancing, reading, sewing, and making excellent puns. I'm a rising senior at Brookline High and a very active member of our Drama Society. This year at camp I get to try out completely new classes, like animation and photography! I'm very excited to be back with some familiar faces and a lot of new faces as well. I hope everyone has a Wild and Woolly* first week of camp!

I'll be tagging CAAPer extraordinaire and another super cool Drama Society member, Chloe Clark!

*Ask me or other returning CAAPers what it means to be Wild and Woolly!

Random Things #1

For today's random thing I will be convincing you that Perry The Platypus is trans. My sources are common sense in my brain, I am trans and I say so, I am autistic, and Phineas and Ferb is my special interest, and just trust me. Ok, let's get started.

In my opinion, Perry The Platypus is trans FTM (female to male) and I am here to convince you the same. My first piece of evidence is the episode "Does This Duckbill Make Me Look Fat?". In this episode, Perry and Candace swap bodies, Candace is reasonably stressed about this and sweats milk (in Perry's body) which is something only biologically female platypuses can do. My next piece of evidence is the episode "Candace And The Egg". In this episode the boys think that Perry laid an egg and no one, not even Candace mentions that only biologically female platypuses can lay eggs. My third piece of evidence is Perry's theme song lyrics, specifically "He's a semi-aquatic egg-laying mammal of action". This theme song is specifically about Perry, not necessarily all platypuses, so this line is stating that Perry can lay eggs. My final piece of evidence is that in Milo Murphy's Law (a spin-off show of Phineas and Ferb) Cavenpuss (a clone of Cavendish and Perry) lays an egg. If that won't convince you I don't know what will. -Moth

IGTTYMOEIIYDCAT

Hello, and welcome to my new column, I'm Going To Tell You My Opinions Even If You Don't Care About Them, or IGTTYMOEIIYDCAT for short. This is a movie review column, so I think I should set up a rating system. I'm going to have two systems, the first one is a rating of something out of 10 cats. This rating will show my opinion of the movie. 5/10 cats is the middle, so for a movie I think is average or mediocre, I would give it 5/10 cats. Anything below 5 I would say is bad, and vice versa. My second rating system will be hit or miss. A hit is a movie I would recommend, and a miss is a movie I would tell you to skip. A movie could be below 5 cats but a hit, or above 5 cats and a miss, depending on whether I would recommend it or not. Finally, if you stop by the OTT room you will find an orange folder. If you put a piece of paper in that folder with a movie you want me to review, I might just review it. Look for my first review soon, PIXAR'S LIGHTYEAR!

Yours truly,

That one critic with bad opinions.

Percy Jackson TV Show Updates

This might be only me and feel free to criticize but the certain Percy Jackson movies aren't so accurate in cougheverythingcough. Annabeth has brown hair! While this is horrible, this is not what I am focusing on. I am focusing on the NEW PERCY JACKSON SHOW ON DISNEY+!!!!!!

More news to come,

Random Things #2

In this article I will be telling you why grass (well lawns) are terrible and I hate them, and why you should too.

My first reason is that lawns take a lot of resources to manage if you want them to look good. Every year Americans use nearly 3 trillion gallons of water, 200 millions gallons of gas, and 70 million pounds of pesticides on lawns. Another reason is that turf grass provides barely any habitat for pollinators and has no biodiversity. Also rainwater runoff from lawns filled with pesticides can damage the ecosystem of nearby bodies of water.

Ok so what should you use instead of turf grass? You can fill up your yard with low growing native plants like clovers and other things, and you can also use carpet moss. Have a fun time hating grass! -Moth
